Introduction

Background

From 2023, the Regulator of Social Housing requires all Social Housing Providers in England to capture feedback from tenants on a set of Tenant Satisfaction Measures (TSMs), and report on these measures. This year, Wandsworth Council commissioned BMG Research to carry out another of their annual perceptions survey among Council tenants and leaseholders to capture feedback on the TSMs and help understand how residents feel about the housing services provided by Wandsworth, what standard residents expect of the service, and problems that need addressed by the Council. Fieldwork took place in June 2023.

Methodology

This year data was collected using a face-to-face method of data collection. Respondents were sampled using a random cluster sample, with clusters of addresses randomly sampled across the Borough and targets set by ward, tenure length, age by gender and property type by management area to ensure the resulting sample was representative by these key characteristics. Previously, data was collected using an online and telephone method of data collection. The change in methodology may have an impact on the data and should be taken into consideration when comparing against previous years' findings.

Overall, 1,112 tenants and 500 leaseholders completed the survey. The Regulator of Social Housing requires Wandsworth Council to sample a minimum of 991 responses and to achieve confidence levels below $\pm 3\%$. Once the data has been weighted, the effective sample size for tenants is 1063, meaning the survey reaches the minimum required number of responses. Using the effective sample size, the margin of error for tenants is $\pm 2.82\%$, meaning we're 95% confident that a figure in findings of 50% would fall between 47.18% and 52.82% if all tenants responded to the survey. The margin of error for leaseholders is $\pm 4.23\%$.

Table 1: Response rates by tenure

	Stock size	Completes	Effective sample size	\pm Confidence interval
Tenants	13,945	1,112	1063	$\pm 2.89\%$
Leaseholders	7,260	500	478	$\pm 4.33\%$

This report

Figures and tables are used throughout the report to assist explanation and analysis. Although occasional anomalies appear due to 'rounding' differences, these are never more than $\pm 1\%$. These occur where, for example, the proportion of respondents who are very satisfied and fairly satisfied are added to produce an overall satisfaction figure. For example, if 23.4% of tenants state they are very satisfied and 38.3% of tenants are fairly satisfied, these figures are rounded down to 23% and 38% respectively. However, the sum of these two responses is 55.7% which is rounded up to 56%, whereas the individual responses suggest this total should be 55%.

Throughout the report the abbreviation 'cf.' is used as shorthand for 'compared to' when examining the data, especially among different sample groupings.

In addition to this written report, data tabulations have also been produced which present the data as a whole.

Throughout this report, the term 'significant' is only used to describe differences within particular groups (e.g., age, property type) that are statistically significant, or changes compared to previous findings that are statistically significant. In some graphics and tables, ticks and crosses will be seen next to some figures. These indicate an increase or decrease with subgroup data compared to the total figure. A tick represents a positive significant difference, a cross represents a negative significant difference.

If a sub-group has an unweighted base of less than 30, these results should be taken as indicative only.

Executive summary

Overall perceptions

Overall, 64% of tenants are satisfied with the overall services provided by Wandsworth Council housing services, with 18% very satisfied. A quarter (26%) express dissatisfaction with the services provided overall, with 14% saying they are very dissatisfied. Satisfaction has increased by ten-percentage-points compared to last year, with dissatisfaction falling by eight-percentage-points.

Satisfaction among leaseholders remains equal to that of tenants, with 64% satisfied with the overall services provided by Wandsworth Council's housing services, with 12% saying they are very satisfied. A fifth (21%) of leaseholders are dissatisfied with this measure, with one-in-ten (8%) saying they are very dissatisfied with the overall services provided. Perceptions have increased for leaseholders since 2022, with satisfaction increasing by nineteen-percentage-points and dissatisfaction decreasing by twenty-two-percentage-points.

The main reason for dissatisfaction among both tenants and leaseholders with the service overall are issues with repairs and maintenance (40%), which correlates with what respondents would like the housing service to focus on as a priority. For tenants, this is a responsive repairs service (73%) and home maintenance (70%). Maintenance is also key for leaseholders, with 2 in 3 (67%) ranking keeping communal areas clean and well maintained as the first priority, followed by listening to views and acting upon them (64%).

Looking at what is leading to dissatisfaction among tenants and leaseholders corroborates with the findings from the Key Drivers Analysis. These results show that among both groups, the key drivers of satisfaction are a well-maintained home, the housing provider making a positive contribution to the neighbourhood and then listening to views and acting upon them. As such, this is where Wandsworth Council needs to improve in order to improve satisfaction.

Quality of home and estate services

Three-in-five (59%) of tenants are satisfied that Wandsworth Council has provided them with a home that is well-maintained, with one-in-five (19%) very satisfied. Around a third (30%) of tenants are dissatisfied with the provision of their home, with 16% very dissatisfied. 61% of leaseholders are satisfied with this measure, with 12% very satisfied. 17% report dissatisfaction, with 8% very dissatisfied.

Fewer tenants and leaseholders are satisfied that communal areas are kept clean and well maintained. 56% of tenants and 52% of leaseholders say they are satisfied. 22% of tenants and 18% of leaseholders say they are very satisfied. 33% and 34% of each group say they are dissatisfied. 18% of tenants and 15% of leaseholders are very dissatisfied.

Positive contribution to neighbourhood

Two-in-three (67%) tenants are satisfied with the positive contribution of housing services to their neighbourhood, with 16% very satisfied. Around a fifth (17%) of tenants say they are dissatisfied with the Councils' positive contribution, with 10% very dissatisfied. 69% of leaseholders are satisfied with the contribution to the neighbourhood, with 12% very satisfied. Under a fifth (15%) are dissatisfied with this measure, with 9% very dissatisfied.

Engagement perceptions

51% of tenants are satisfied that their landlord listens to their views and acts upon them; around the same figure for leaseholders at 50%. 66% of tenants are satisfied that Wandsworth Council's housing services keeps them informed about things that matter to them, compared to 62% of leaseholders.

77% of tenants say Council housing services treat them fairly and with respect. Among leaseholders, 76% say housing services treats them similarly. When customers who did not feel fairly or respectfully treated were asked why, common responses for tenants and leaseholders include poor customer service and feeling ignored or not listened to.

Contact and communication

Around three-in-five (59%) tenants said they had contacted the housing services within the last 12 months, compared to 42% of leaseholders. For both tenants and leaseholders, when contacting the housing department, repairs was the most common topic discussed.

Just over half (54%) of tenants said they were satisfied that housing services were easy to deal with when contacting them, with 12% saying they are very satisfied. 29% of tenants are dissatisfied with this measure. Half (52%) of leaseholders said they are satisfied with how easy it is to deal with the Housing Department, with 7% very satisfied. 23% of leaseholders said they were dissatisfied with this measure, with 12% saying they are very dissatisfied.

Rent and service charges

Seven-in-ten (72%) of tenants are satisfied with the value for money of rent, with a quarter (25%) very satisfied. Around a tenth (14%) of tenants stated they were dissatisfied with this measure, with 6% very dissatisfied. Amongst leaseholders, 51% say they are satisfied with the value for money of their services charge, with 18% very satisfied. Around three-in-ten (29%) of leaseholders said they were dissatisfied, with 13% very dissatisfied with the value for money.

Repairs service

36% of tenants have had a repair carried out to their property in the last 12 months. Just over a half (53%) of tenants are satisfied with the overall repairs service they have received, with 21% very satisfied. A third (35%) of tenants say they are dissatisfied with the repairs service, with 20% very dissatisfied. Under half (47%) of leaseholders are satisfied with this measure, with 13% very satisfied. Two-in-five (42%) are dissatisfied with this measure, with 21% very dissatisfied.

There are similar levels of satisfaction on the time taken to complete the most recent repair after reporting it. Half (52%) of tenants are satisfied with this measure, with 21% very satisfied. Over a third (38%) are dissatisfied, with 25% very dissatisfied. 46% of leaseholders are satisfied, with 15% reporting being very satisfied. 43% are dissatisfied, with 26% very dissatisfied.

Safety

Three quarters (76%) of tenants are satisfied that Wandsworth Council housing services has provided them with a home that is safe. A similar proportion of leaseholders (75%) are also satisfied with this measure.

Approach to anti-social behaviour and complaints handling

67% of tenants are satisfied with Wandsworth Council's Housing Department approach to handling anti-social behaviour. This drops to 61% amongst leaseholders. 20% of tenants and 22% of leaseholders are dissatisfied. Conversely, 16% of tenants and 20% of leaseholders are satisfied with the handling of complaints. On the other hand, 71% of tenants and 67% of leaseholders are dissatisfied. Both tenants and leaseholders cite not dealing with complaints and poor customer service as the top two reasons for dissatisfaction.

Overall perceptions

Overall satisfaction with the housing service – tenants

Looking at changes in satisfaction across years, some changes are clear as can be seen in the chart overleaf. Amongst tenants, overall satisfaction has increased (64% cf. 54% in 2022). However, the proportion of those saying they are ‘Very satisfied’ has fallen from 23% to 18%. Proportions of those saying they are neither satisfied nor dissatisfied remain stable (10% cf. 11% in 2022). Dissatisfaction has decreased from 34% in 2022 to 26% - a drop which is made of fewer tenants stating they are ‘Very dissatisfied’ with the service provided (22% cf. 14% in 2023).

Perceptions of overall services by subgroup - tenants

By subgroups, overall satisfaction by tenants varies. By management area, those in the Eastern and Western areas are significantly less likely to be satisfied (53% and 58% cf. 64%). Those in general needs accommodation (62%) and maisonettes (54%) are also less satisfied than the average tenant (64%).

Looking at tenants by demographic measures, females (59%), those aged 16-34 (52%) and 35-44 (54%), BME respondents (59%) and those with a disability in the household (58%) are more likely to be satisfied than the average tenant.

Perceptions of overall services by ward - tenants

By ward, those living in Wandsworth Town, West Hill and West Putney are markedly more satisfied than average with the service provided whilst those in Tooting Bec, Battersea Park, Roehampton and Shaftesbury and Queenstown (49%, 51%, 51%, 51% cf. 64%) are markedly less satisfied than average. Please note findings with wards with a base size of under 30 should be treated as indicative only.

Overall Satisfaction with the Housing Service – leaseholders

Amongst leaseholders, overall satisfaction has increased (64% cf. 43% in 2022). The proportion of leaseholders who say they are 'Fairly satisfied' has increased from 34% in 2022 to 53% in 2023. Proportions of those stating they are 'Neither satisfied or dissatisfied' are similar across years. Dissatisfaction has decreased from 43% in 2022 to 21% - a drop which is made of fewer leaseholders stating they are 'Fairly dissatisfied' and 'Very satisfied' with the service provided.

Perceptions of overall services by subgroup – leaseholders

As with tenants, leaseholders in Western management areas are significantly less satisfied than average with the overall service provided (52% cf. 64%).

Those with a disability in the household are also less likely to be satisfied than average (48% cf. 64%), with no other differences by demographics.

Figure 7: Taking everything into account, how satisfied or dissatisfied are you with the service provided by Wandsworth Borough Council's housing service? - Subgroups

Reasons for dissatisfaction

Respondents who said they were neither satisfied nor dissatisfied, or stated their dissatisfaction were asked why they felt that way. Comments from respondents have been coded, the results of which are shown below.

Amongst both tenants and leaseholders, a key reason for their dissatisfaction with the housing service are issues with repairs and maintenance service. For tenants, outstanding issues and poor customer service are also driving dissatisfaction. For leaseholders, issues with the cleaning service and poor customer service are driving dissatisfaction. The reasons for dissatisfaction remain the same even among the segments of tenants and leaseholders who are overall, least satisfied with the overall service. Figure 8 thus demonstrates the reasons that contribute towards dissatisfaction for tenants and leaseholders and therefore, what the housing service can focus on in order to improve their satisfaction. A better and more responsive repairs and maintenance service, and better customer service would go some way to satisfy the dissatisfaction that around half of dissatisfied tenants and leaseholders currently feel.

Unweighted bases in parentheses. Only responses over 5% shown

Some examples of tenants' and leaseholders' responses are given below:

Issues with repairs and maintenance	Issues with cleaning
"When you email a repair with photos of the subject they never get sent to the contractors. Most of the time, the information I have given, isn't passed on in enough detail." - Tenant "Because nothing gets done repairs sometimes can take 1 year." - Tenant "I have lived in the property since 1979, there have been no structural repairs. Priorities

Respondents were asked which services they would consider to be priorities; the results show slight differences between both groups. For tenants, the top 2 priorities – with 7 in 10 ranking these – are a responsive repairs service (73%) and home maintenance (70%). This is followed by almost 3 in 5 tenants who say the next priorities are keeping the condition of the home safe (59%), listening to views and acting upon them (58%) and keeping communal areas clean and well maintained (57%). Priorities are different for leaseholders, with 2 in 3 (67%) ranking keeping communal areas clean and well maintained first. This is followed by listening to views and acting upon them (64%) and dealing with anti-social behaviour (54%).

For these tenants, priorities are a responsive repairs service (81%), home maintenance and keeping communal areas clean and well maintained (72% respectively), keeping the condition of the property or building safe (68%) and dealing with complaints (56%). For these respondents then, who are the least satisfied, the state of communal areas and the condition of their homes alongside their complaints being listened to are key to improving their satisfaction with the service they are provided with. For leaseholders who are part of this segmentation, priorities are keeping communal areas clean and well maintained (80%), the value for money they get for their service charge (66%), listening to views and acting upon them (56%), being treated fairly and with respect and keeping the condition of the property or building safe (53%).

Whilst these two groups differ slightly in their prioritisation, particularly among the least satisfied groups, it is clear that maintenance, communication and engagement are key factors for both tenants and leaseholders. This ties in with the Key Drivers Analysis (Figures 9 and 10 further down) which shows these two measures are the top two TSMs that drive satisfaction among these groups – even among those who have had a repair done to their home in the last year. These prioritisations thus give an insight into where the council can improve and increase its satisfaction ratings.

Improvements

When asked the three main things Wandsworth Council could do to improve housing services, the results give credence to the prioritisation assigned by respondents in Figure 9 above. Again, maintenance and communication are key points for both tenants and leaseholders. Tenants said repairs and maintenance, cleanliness of communal areas and quicker response times were most important to them as ways in which their housing provider can improve their services. For leaseholders, the three main things they would like to see improved are cleanliness of communal areas, dealing with anti-social behaviour and non-housing related issues. The top 3 issues remain consistent among the least satisfied tenants as shown by segmentation analysis.

Figure 10: Thinking about the services Wandsworth Council provides, what are the three main things they could do to improve the housing services they provide to you?

Only responses over 3% have been shown

Key Drivers Analysis

To determine what factors are most important in driving overall satisfaction with the Housing Service, regression analysis has been carried out. This kind of analysis examines satisfaction levels on closed questions against overall satisfaction with the Housing Service, identifying which factors are most correlated with high overall satisfaction.

It is clear that a well-maintained home, a presence in the neighbourhood and good communications makes a clear difference in satisfaction levels amongst both tenants and leaseholders – this is true even amongst those who have had a repair done to their home in the last 12 months. Tying this in with the key reasons respondents state for their dissatisfaction, it is clear that maintenance is a key issue for tenants and leaseholders, as are communications from Wandsworth Borough.

The key drivers shown below are split out into all of tenants and all who have had a repair in the last 12 months. Amongst all tenants, the significant drivers of satisfaction are noted in Figure 11. A well-maintained home is the most important driver of satisfaction amongst all tenants, followed by making a positive contribution to their neighbourhood and listening to views and acting upon them. Being easy to deal with is also a key driver of satisfaction.

Amongst tenants who have had a repair done to their home in the past year, satisfaction with the repairs service has an important impact on their overall satisfaction with Wandsworth Borough Council. As seen in Figure 11 below, the key drivers of satisfaction for this group are similar to those of all tenants. Being kept informed about things that matter to them and the time taken to complete their most recent repair are also key drivers of satisfaction for this group.

Figure 12 below demonstrates key drivers of satisfaction amongst all leaseholders. Within this group, the key drivers of satisfaction are a well-maintained home, making a positive contribution to the neighbourhood and listening to views and acting upon them. Being easy to deal with, being treated fairly and respectfully and having value for money are also significant drivers.

Tenant Satisfaction Measures

Below outlines levels of satisfaction for the new Tenant Satisfaction Measures that will be required to be submitted to the Regulator of Social Housing at the end of this financial year.

Tenant Satisfaction Measures by tenants

Currently for tenants of Wandsworth Borough Council, performance is strongest around metrics relating to tenant empowerment, including being treated fairly and with respect, a safe home, the handling of anti-social behaviour and making positive contributions to their neighbourhood. Performance is weakest around the handling of complaints, that Wandsworth Borough listens to views and acts upon them, and the repairs service and time taken to complete them.

Sub-group analysis

As highlighted in 'Appendix: Sub-group analysis for Tenant Satisfaction Measures' when exploring differences by key socio-demographic groups we find:

- Ward: Tenants living in Battersea Park are significantly less satisfied with the overall service provided (51% satisfied), how well communal areas are kept clean and well maintained (45% satisfied), that Wandsworth Borough listens to views and acts upon them (40% satisfied), that tenants are kept informed (56% satisfied), that they get value for their money (64% satisfied) and Wandsworth Council's handling of anti-social behaviour (53% satisfied). Conversely, those living in West Hill are markedly more satisfied with the overall service (88%), as well as most other metrics including that Wandsworth Borough makes a positive contribution to the neighbourhood (83% satisfied) and how ASB is handled (86% satisfied).
- Gender: Female tenants are significantly less satisfied across all tenant satisfaction measures, except the overall repairs service (51% satisfied), the time taken to complete the most recent repair (48% satisfied) and the housing service's approach to complaints handling (16% satisfied) where their results are in line with the average tenant.
- Age: Those aged between 35 and 44 are markedly less satisfied overall (54% satisfied), that their views are listened to (38% satisfied), that they are provided with a safe home (66% satisfied), that the housing service makes a positive contribution to their neighbourhood (61% satisfied), with the repairs service (39% satisfied with repairs in the last 12 months and 39% satisfied with the time taken to complete a repair), that the home is well maintained (49% satisfied), that communal areas are kept clean and well maintained (46% satisfied) and handling anti-social behaviour (59% satisfied). Those aged 65+ or over are markedly more satisfied with the majority of metrics. This age group also correlates with significant satisfaction among tenants in sheltered accommodation, which tends to consist of older cohorts.
- Disability: Those tenants who indicate having someone within the household with a disability or longstanding illness are significantly less satisfied overall (58% satisfied). They are significantly less satisfied across most measures.

Segmentation analysis was carried out on the data, in order to discover the segments of tenants who are more likely to be more and less satisfied with the overall satisfaction. This segmentation allows for a deeper insight into which tenants are significantly less satisfied, and to isolate them within analysis. Isolating their responses allows us to pinpoint their grievances, and thus where the housing service can improve its offering – increasing overall satisfaction. The table below outlines the groups of tenants who have been noted during segmentation analysis. Table 2 overleaf demonstrates which groups are more satisfied, with the green highlighting and those which are less satisfied, with the red highlighting.

Tenant Satisfaction Measures by leaseholders

Currently for leaseholders of Wandsworth Borough Council, performance is strongest around metrics relating to tenant empowerment, including being treated fairly and with respect, a safe home and making positive contributions to their neighbourhood. Performance is weakest around being listened to and having communal areas clean and well maintained.

Satisfaction with home maintenance

Around 3 in 5 tenants (59%) are satisfied that the housing service provides them with a home that is well maintained. 1 in 5 (19%) are 'Very satisfied', however, almost a third (30%) of tenants report dissatisfaction. In the 2022 survey, results were similar to this year's survey despite methodological changes. 56% reported satisfaction, 32% reported dissatisfaction.

Tenants in maisonettes are significantly less likely to be satisfied that they have a well-maintained home (50%), as are those who have been in their homes between one to two years (53%) and general needs accommodation (57%). Tenants in Western and Eastern management areas are less satisfied (51%), particularly women with a disability in their household in these areas are also less satisfied (40%).

A well-maintained home is the most important driver of satisfaction and is key for increasing overall satisfaction. The groups outlined above who are least satisfied presently, present an opportunity for improvement for the Council. With tenants noting poor customer care, it being hard to contact the housing service and outstanding repair issues as driving their dissatisfaction – improvements in these areas could increase satisfaction in this measure and consequently, overall satisfaction.

Figure 14: How satisfied or dissatisfied are you that your landlord/ Wandsworth Borough Council's housing service provides a home that is well maintained?

Unweighted bases in parenthesis

Satisfaction with estate services

Around 4 in 5 tenants and leaseholders (78% and 82% respectively) report living in a building with communal areas, either inside or outside, that the housing service is responsible for maintaining. Respondents who do live in a building with communal areas were asked how satisfied they were that communal areas were kept clean and well maintained.

Around half of tenants (56%) and leaseholders (52%) are satisfied that the housing service keeps communal areas clean and well maintained. 1 in 5 (22% of tenants and 18% of leaseholders) report being 'Very satisfied'. However, a third of tenants (33%) and leaseholders (34%) report dissatisfaction with this.

Keeping communal areas clean and well maintained are one of three measures where tenants last year rated this TSM higher than this year. In 2022, 57% of tenants said they were satisfied and 33% dissatisfied. 39% of leaseholders were satisfied and 44% dissatisfied.

Wandsworth’s contribution to the neighbourhood

Two thirds of tenants and leaseholders are satisfied that Wandsworth Borough Council’s Housing Service makes a positive contribution to their neighbourhood (67% and 69% respectively). The majority of the satisfaction results are made up of ‘Fairly satisfied’ responses – 51% of tenants and 57% of leaseholders are ‘Fairly satisfied’. Over 1 in 10 among both groups are dissatisfied (17% and 15%).

In the last iteration of this survey, 34% of tenants and 60% of leaseholders were satisfied that the housing service makes a positive contribution to their neighbourhood. 31% of tenants and 40% of leaseholders were dissatisfied.

Interestingly, analysis of the data shows that making a positive contribution to the neighbourhood is the second most important driver of satisfaction among both tenants and leaseholders. Among tenants, women (64%), those aged 35-44 (61%) and those with any disability in the household (62%) are among respondents who are least satisfied with this measure currently. For leaseholders, those with any disability in the household (51%) are also least satisfied with this measure. Segmentation analysis demonstrates that tenants in Western and Eastern management areas are least likely to agree (63%) and further segmentation shows that women and those with a disability in the household in these areas are even less likely to agree (54%). This same group is also less satisfied among leaseholders (Western/Eastern management areas, 62% and females with any disability in the household in these areas, 42%).

Given how key this measure is for driving overall satisfaction towards Wandsworth Borough Council’s housing service, it is important for the Council to focus on improving its contributions towards the borough particularly in Western and Eastern management areas. This is especially true of its female tenants and those with a disability in their household (either personal or another household members). Looking at what tenants and leaseholders want the council to improve upon, as noted in Figure 10, better engagement from the Council and keeping communal areas clean and well maintained will contribute positively towards this measure.

The following verbatims are examples of comments from tenants and leaseholders expressing their dissatisfaction:

In 2022, 59% of tenants were satisfied with this TSM and 22% dissatisfied. Leaseholders were 44% satisfied and 31% dissatisfied.

Approach to handling complaints

A quarter of all tenants and leaseholders (24% and 25% respectively) have made a complaint to Wandsworth Borough Council's housing service in the last 12 months. Among those who have complained, few are satisfied with the Council’s housing service’s approach to the complaints handling – unlike the approach when reporting anti-social behaviour.

1 in 10 (16%) tenants and 1 in 5 leaseholders (20%) are satisfied with the housing service’s approach to complaints handling. Around 7 in 10 of both tenants and leaseholders are dissatisfied on this measure (71% of tenants cf. 67% of leaseholders). When asked why they were dissatisfied, both tenants and leaseholders noted that not dealing with the issues or complaints mentioned were the key reason for their dissatisfaction, followed by poor customer service. Among tenants, the third reason for dissatisfaction was poor quality services, including repairs and maintenance. For leaseholders, the third reason for dissatisfaction was the lack of response and it being hard to contact the housing service. The coded responses and the verbatims make clear that a lack of solutions and no clear communication are key drivers of satisfaction.

The following verbatims are examples of comments from tenants and leaseholders expressing their dissatisfaction:

Rents and Service Charges

Finally, respondents were asked if they were satisfied with the value for money they get for their rent, if they are tenants, or their service charge if they are leaseholders. Tenants are significantly more satisfied with the value they get for their money than leaseholders are. Almost two thirds of tenants (72%) are satisfied with the value for money they get for their rent, compared to half of leaseholders (51%) who say they are satisfied with the value for money they get for their service charge. Conversely, 1 in 10 (14%) tenants are dissatisfied, compared to 3 in 10 (29%) leaseholders who are dissatisfied.

Tenants were also significantly more satisfied with the value for money they get in the 2022 survey. Then, 67% were satisfied compared to just 29% of leaseholders. 18% of tenants were dissatisfied, compared to 49% of leaseholders.

Contact with the housing service

Throughout the report, it is clear that there is still some work to be done by Wandsworth Borough in order to improve satisfaction among tenants and leaseholders. There are key groups who consistently report being less satisfied than average. Among these are younger cohorts, women, ethnic minorities alongside specific management areas and wards.

Questions were asked to tenants and leaseholders about their previous interactions with the housing service and which services they felt were more important than others – giving further insight into what can be done to increase satisfaction among residents.

Contact with Wandsworth Council’s housing services

Tenants are significantly more likely to have contacted the housing service in the last year than leaseholders have. 59% of tenants have said they have contacted Wandsworth Borough Council's housing service in the last 12 months, compared to 42% of leaseholders.

Wandsworth Council Housing Department easy to deal with

Respondents were asked how satisfied they were that the housing service is easy to deal with. Half of tenants (54%) and leaseholders (52%) are satisfied. 2 in 5 tenants (42%) and leaseholders (45%) are 'Fairly satisfied'. Conversely, 3 in 10 (29%) tenants are dissatisfied, compared to 1 in 4 (23%) leaseholders who are dissatisfied. Tenants were more satisfied that the housing service is easy to deal with in the 2022 survey. Then, 55% of tenants were satisfied and 30% were dissatisfied. 33% of leaseholders reported satisfaction and 36% were dissatisfied.

Tying these results in with the verbatims, demonstrate that it is hard to get in touch with the housing department and that respondents feel there is often a lack of good customer service. Improvements made here would go some way in increasing agreement that the housing department is easy to deal with.
