New Park for Wandsworth

LONDON'S FIRST NEW PARK SINCE 2012 IS BEING CREATED IN TOOTING.

Council planners unanimously approved the layout of a new 32 acre park in the grounds of Springfield Hospital. It will feature landscaped areas, a pavilion and café, two children's playgrounds, a rose garden (pictured) and fitness equipment. More than 400 trees will be planted and there will be large grassed areas to play games such as football and cricket.

The new park will join the existing 1600 acres of parks and open spaces in Wandsworth. This summer we've been celebrating the borough's parklife and asked people to post their #LoveParksWandsworth pictures on social media. Take a look at the results on pages 12-14.

FALCON ROAD CELEBRATES

More than 60 volunteers, 35 organisations and hundreds of local families came together at the 3rd Falcon Road Festival, which this year celebrated 'our community – our families'.

Designed and managed by local people and funded by Big Local SW11, with additional sponsorship by Taylor Wimpey, highlights included live performances on the main stage, Garg's Reptiles, Sky Birds of Prey, Deen City Farm, the Climbing Wall and sports zone, the Skate Park zone, bouncy castles and fairground rides.

FRIENDS FIVE YEARS ON

The Friends of Putney Library have celebrated their fifth birthday.

The Friends were set up in 2013 to protect, enhance and promote Putney Library and run a free events programme connecting it with the local community, including talks, children's workshops, local history and quizzes. Recently the Friends have helped fund a large TV screen, new equipment for the children's library and chess sets for the games club.

Demolished pub rises again

A historic public house in Battersea that was unlawfully demolished has risen from the rubble and been restored back to its original Victorian-era splendour after the council took legal action to force the developer to rebuild it.

The Alchemist pub in St John's Hill was knocked down without planning permission in the summer of 2015 – prompting the council to issue the developer with an enforcement notice requiring him to rebuild it brick-by-brick.

This process has now been completed and the building restored in all its former glory to once again form a prominent landmark in this part of Battersea. The Alchemist was formerly known as the Fishmonger's Arms and dates back to the late nineteenth century.

Planning chairman Cllr Will Sweet said: "This is excellent news and testament to the council sticking to its guns and insisting on the building's complete restoration. The building is an integral part of the St John's Hill Grove conservation area which why we were determined to take action to ensure it would be restored for future generations."

Wandsworth was the first local authority in the country to use planning laws to safeguard 120 of its most precious pubs. Visit wands-worth.gov.uk/article4.

TREE WARDENS

The Wandsworth Tree Wardens have produced a discussion paper outlining their vision of a tree strategy for the 21st century. It highlights the benefit of trees and is calling for an 'urban forest' with a long-term commitment to planning more trees.

The tree wardens are volunteers who help monitor and planting local trees. Find out more about them and the discussion paper at <http://wands-worthtree-wardens.org/wp-content/uploads/2017/12/strategy.pdf>

ST MARY'S PARK

In our last edition we gave you incorrect councillor details for the St Mary's Park ward. The three ward councillors are Melanie Hampton (Conservative) and Rhodri Morgan (Conservative) and Emily Wintle (Labour). Apologies for any confusion.

GRANTS UP FOR GRABS

The next deadline to apply to the Wandsworth Grant Fund is December 17.

It's open to Wandsworth-based voluntary and community organisations, residents' associations or groups of neighbours with an idea for a project to benefit their community.

In total £319,500 has been earmarked by the council in the 2018/19 financial year to give out in various waves of the fund. Grants are available between £500 – £10,000 for projects across a range of themes include art and culture, children and young people, citizenship and civic engagement, environment and attractive neighbourhoods, raising aspirations and potential, and health and well being.

Bid to ban boards

Estate agents boards – seen by many as eyesores that litter the landscape – could become a thing of the past in six areas of the borough if ministers back the council’s call for new powers to tackle the issue.

Wandsworth is to seek additional powers from the secretary of state to ban boards from Balham High Road, Northcote Road, Queenstown Road, Old York Road, Tooting Town Centre and the stretch of Garratt Lane north of Earlsfield Station.

Councillors are concerned that estate agents are keeping the boards up for advertising purposes even if the property has already been sold or let.

Similar powers have been successfully used since 2016 in the three town centres at Putney, Balham and Clapham Junction – along with streets in and around Lavender Hill.

The ban would not extend to boards often given to parents to advertise local school fairs or fetes, only those boards specifically used to advertise the sale or letting of a property.

HELP SAVE THE HEDGEHOG

Local resident Jackie Underwood-Hall is running a campaign to save hedgehogs, and wants others to get involved.

Jackie runs a stall at local events and gives talks at schools, and wants to thank Peter from the Delicija deli in Putney for letting her run a stall outside each Sunday. She will be running events this autumn so that families can find out more about the animals and how they can protect them and prepare them for the winter.

“I am particularly keen to get Wandsworth residents helping hedgehogs prepare for the winter months, especially hibernation as they need sufficient weight gain to survive the cold months - not to mention safe places to hibernate.”

RELAUNCH YOUR CAREER

Link UP London, which matches volunteers with local charities who need their skills, has created the ReLaunch programme for professional women following a career break.

Link UP believes the skills of professional women out of the paid workforce are vastly underutilised. ReLaunch aims to help these women re-enter the workforce in a way that works best for them.

“I highly recommend this course to anyone who is feeling stuck about their next career move. ReLaunch has given me some much needed focus and an invaluable support network,” said one participant.

This autumn, Link UP London will be running two ReLaunch courses. The first begins on September 18 and the second on November 7. To find out more, email relaunch@linkuplondon.org

For Fishes Sake!

A campaign is urging people not to pollute the Thames in Putney.

The council is working with environmental charity Hubbub, Positively Putney and the Port of London Authority to remind residents and visitors that rubbish left on the riverbank, even if it’s done in a ‘tidy’ way next to litterbins, can easily end up in the river. Meet the team and find out more at the Great River Race on September 8 and the free Foreshore Festival family fun day on the Putney Embankment on September 23.

Steer clear of cowboys

PEOPLE ARE BEING WARNED NOT TO EMPLOY COWBOY WASTE COLLECTORS

These criminals usually drive around residential areas looking for homes that are being refurbished or cleared. They will approach the owner and offer to take "junk" away for a cut price rate.

But instead of taking it to a proper waste disposal site and paying the appropriate fees, they simply dump it somewhere nearby – often in parks or other open spaces – leaving taxpayers to foot the clean-up bill.

In these cases it is not just the flytipper who is committing a crime – the householder who paid them to take their waste away is also liable under the law.

The maximum penalty that can be imposed by the courts for a serious flytip offence is an unlimited fine and up to five years imprisonment.

■ You can have bulky waste items collected by calling the town hall on (020) 8871 8558 or book online wandsworth.gov.uk/specialcollections

■ If you choose a licensed private contractor, check where they are disposing of rubbish and make sure you get a proper receipt

■ Anyone with information about rubbish being dumped should telephone (020) 8871 6396 or email flytipwitness@richmondand-wandsworth.gov.uk. All information will be treated in confidence.

■ More than five thousand on-the-spot fines have been handed out to litterbugs and flytippers in just over a year.

More than 1,300 of these were handed out to people who threw litter from a moving vehicle, or involved businesses that obstructed pavements with their commercial waste, and 174 were given to individuals found to be responsible for more serious flytips.

Wandsworth employs a litter squad whose job is to investigate flytips and issue fines to offenders. The most recent Government figures show that despite being inner London's largest borough and also its most populous, Wandsworth accounted for less than 1.2 per cent of all flytips across the capital's 33 boroughs.

E-car drive continues

Wandsworth is spearheading the electric car revolution and is on course to deliver the most extensive e-car infrastructure in London.

- 380 charging sockets have been installed in every available lamppost within two pilot zones – in Putney (149) and Battersea (231) – to gauge demand and encourage more people to go electric. The results from these trial schemes could see this key infrastructure extended to other areas.
- Outside of these two pilot zones another 300 lampposts are having EV sockets fitted to them in parts of the borough where local people have already gone electric.
- Source London is providing another 120 charging points at various locations across the borough, adding to the 99 already in use at 33 separate places in Wandsworth.
- A new e-car club is being established in Wandsworth – offering a convenient and eco-friendly alternative to car ownership, providing electric vehicles to hire by the hour, day or week.
- BP is rolling out rapid charging points in petrol station forecourts, with Swandon Way likely to be one of the first.

The number of electric vehicles registered in Wandsworth has grown from 127 at the end of 2015 to more than 500 now – with numbers rising by around ten per cent every three months.

Current projections indicate that some 5,500 electric vehicles will be registered in the borough by 2025 – but with enhanced infrastructure and more charging points that number could rise to nearer 10,000. Existing analysis indicates that Wandsworth already has one of the highest take up rates in London for electric vehicles.

Clean air action

This year's Clean Air Day was the most successful yet with residents, schools and businesses all getting involved.

National Clean Air Day is about raising awareness of pollution issues, supporting people to reduce the amount of pollution they create and working together to improve air quality.

A Car Free Day (pictured left) was held in Tooting to encourage people to leave their cars at home and seven borough schools received visits to teach young people about pollution using fun games and theatre workshops. Parents were asked not to leave engines idling while they wait to pick up their children.

There are also several projects in the pipeline to install living green walls outside borough schools and proactive work to reduce pollution in Putney and Nine Elms by working with contractors and lobbying for cleaner buses.

Councils set for Heathrow court challenge

A group of local authorities including Wandsworth have now filed their claim seeking judicial review of the Government's decision to support a third Heathrow runway.

The government has given policy support in its Airports National Policy Statement (NPS). The councils are challenging the Government in court on several grounds including air quality, climate change and failing to properly deal with noise consequences and surface transport access impact.

Wandsworth Council leader Ravi Govindia said:

The councils have shown extraordinary patience. We have given the Government countless opportunities to address our concerns and answer our questions. The evidence shows that a new Heathrow runway will be bad for our environment and bad for the health of our residents. We simply cannot stand by and let this happen without a fight.

The local authority group comprises the London Boroughs of Hillingdon, Wandsworth and Richmond, and the Royal Borough of Windsor and Maidenhead.

The group has also been joined by the Mayor of London, Greenpeace and Hammersmith and Fulham Council.

Helicopter noise risk

Residents living near the Battersea Heliport are being subjected to noise levels that could pose a risk to their health, a new report claims.

The study, carried out by acoustics experts from London South Bank University, monitored noise levels near the heliport over a five month period last year. It found that residents living close to the Thames in the boroughs of Wandsworth, Hammersmith & Fulham and Kensington & Chelsea are routinely subjected to noise disturbance that exceeds World Health Organisation (WHO) recommended limits.

Leader of Wandsworth Council, Councillor Ravi Govindia, said: "This study is the first evidence of the impact the heliport is having on residents living along the Thames.

"In the first instance we would call upon the Mayor, the Civil Aviation Authority and the Government to work together with us to find a more sustainable solution.

"Under the Mayor's current Draft London Plan it is proposed that any new heliports are refused. We do not believe that is fair as it means that our residents are having to bear the brunt of having the flight path from London's only heliport going over their heads.

"It is obvious that relocation of the Battersea Heliport is the only right solution but the Mayor's draft London Plan has failed to grasp the nettle. There is still time for him to change his mind.

"In the meantime we call on the Heliport operator to do more to curb its impact and also work with us to improve this situation."

“ Every street in Wandsworth should have a Neighbourhood Watch ”

Keep your neighbourhood safe

A stalwart of the Neighbourhood Watch movement in Wandsworth is urging others to get involved.

John Dennehy is the Neighbourhood Watch co-ordinator for Khartoum Road, the Tooting Ward Panel Chairperson and a member of the Wandsworth Safer Neighbourhood Board. He believes people may be worried about joining their local watch or starting a new one because they're unsure of what is involved.

“Every street in Wandsworth should have a Neighbourhood Watch. It's a very practical way to keep everyone safe, to gather evidence when something goes wrong. It builds trust among neighbours and gives everyone on the street a mediator for any gripes like fly-tipping, barking dogs, concerns about elderly neighbours or suspicious behaviour.

“The NW co-ordinator is not a Mr or Mrs Fix-it, but supports the street to ensure it is safe, clean and quiet. We have built up a lot of trust between neighbours and have a great relationship with the local police and the various departments at the council.

“I'd like to see more streets involved in the future so that we can get a better coordinated flow of local information, activities for the elderly and even sports/activity competitions between streets.

“Local shops are a vital part of our community too and need to be better integrated.”

Neighbourhood Watch is overseen borough-wide by the council's community safety department, and watches also work closely with their neighbourhood policing team.

A public meeting of the Wandsworth Safer Neighbourhood Board is at the town hall on October 10 and will focus on Neighbourhood Watch. Everyone is welcome to go along from 6.30pm.

Find out more about starting or joining a watch by emailing communitysafety@wandsworth.gov.uk or calling (020) 8871 6567.

Could KITE help you?

A local resident supported by the council's KITE service is urging others to see if it could help them.

KITE (Keep Independent Through Enablement) provides support from specially-trained care workers to people who have been discharged from hospital or whose health has deteriorated.

They work with occupational therapists and physiotherapy services when necessary and help people learn a new skill or re-learn an old one, get fit or learn how to cook a healthy meal.

Earlier this year KITE received a good rating from the Care Quality Commission watchdog, who said the service was treated people with dignity, care and respect.

David Barttelot was admitted to St George's Hospital in April with a suspected broken ankle and following rehab at Roland Gibson House in Burtwood Lane was referred to KITE so he could continue to recuperate at home.

He praised staff at the hospital and Roland Gibson House, and said he has been telling friends about KITE because not enough older people know about it.

"I saw the team for four weeks. They are a fabulous service and they've got me back on my feet. The occupational therapist has bent over backwards to get equipment for me that really works."

Brighter Living

More than 200 people found out what support is available in Wandsworth to help them stay independent at the Brighter Living Fair

The free fair, organised by the council's Adult Social Services Department, was for adults who have, or are looking for, care and support in the borough and other local people aged 55 and over.

More than 40 local services and organisations had stalls at the event and there was a full programme of talks and demonstrations. There was also a chance to hear about services on offer from the council to keep people safe and well, including the WATCH and Telecare emergency alarm services and the award-winning KITE re-enablement service.

The Scott family said they had learnt about support available for carers and the location of different services: "As well as finding out what services there are, we also found out where about in the borough they are, which is really useful." Yvonne who lives in Balham said she had learnt about healthy eating from the Diabetes Champions and how to make the best use of her mobile from CommuniTech.

If you were unable to attend, you can search for local social care services at www.wandsworth.gov.uk/adultsocialcare.

AEROSOL NO

Residents are being asked not to put aerosols in with their recycling. The Western Riverside Waste Authority, which processes the borough's waste, has made the request following a number of explosions at the Smugglers Way recycling facility. Place aerosols in with your general rubbish. They will still be recycled because the metal is extracted following incineration.

MEDIATION SERVICE

The Wandsworth Mediation Service is a charity that offers mediation to those in conflict with their neighbours, families and communities. It has about 60 volunteer mediators, most of whom live locally, who over the years have helped hundreds of people.

Mediators are neutral and help the parties work out how they want to change things for the future, rather than telling them what to do. Being given the opportunity to meet face-to-face can help each side see the other's point of view. It also offers conflict coaching to one party when the other refuses to mediate. #IT STARTS WITH YOU

The independent health and care champion Healthwatch has launched its #ItStartsWithYou campaign to encourage people to share their experiences of health and social care to help make services better.

Complete the survey online at smartsurvey.co.uk/s/hww-itstartswithyou. You can also go along to an event at the Battersea Mission on September 19 from 10.30am to join a discussion on local health and care topics. Find out more at healthwatchwandsworth.co.uk

LORRY CONSULTATION

Southfields residents living in The Triangle have until September 29 to respond to a public consultation on proposals to ban lorries weighing more than 7.5 tonnes entering four quiet residential streets just off Wimbledon Park Road.

The ban would prevent HGVs using Pulborough Road, Wincanton Road, Hambledon Road and Gatwick Road as a cut-through. Transport spokesman Cllr Jonathan Cook said: "Our view is that a lorry ban in these neighbourhoods is the right way forward but it's important for local people to have their say." Email HDTs@wandsworth.gov.uk.

SHARE TECH SKILLS

Tech-savvy Wandsworth people are being urged to join a new Digital Champion Network being set up in the borough to help share digital skills. Community Fibre, which works in partnership with the council to provide super-fast broadband for homes on housing estates, is working with the charity Digital Unite to set up the network. email hello@communityfibre.co.uk

Why Apprenticeships?

Modern apprenticeships are a chance for people of all ages to combine work and learning on the job.

For a young person, apprenticeships offer a first step into employment where you can earn while you learn, while for a more experienced worker they can offer a way of getting trained and qualified on the job.

For businesses they are an opportunity to develop a worker to gain the skills your business needs and lead to increased staff loyalty and better staff retention. Some of the costs are tax-deductible, and larger companies pay anyway through the apprenticeship levy so it makes sense to get the benefit

How to recruit an Apprentice

Many colleges and training providers throughout the UK can help employers recruit a suitable apprentice or you can recruit apprentices directly - just make sure you link up with a recognised training provider in order to get the benefits of government support. Alternatively, visit the UK Government website guide for employers - www.gov.uk/take-on-an-apprentice

Erasmus+ European Partnerships 4 Apprenticeships

Rinova is the UK partner in an innovative development project funded by the European Union Erasmus+ programme called Get involved in EP4A: European Partnerships for Apprenticeships. It tackles labour force skill mismatches and increases the employability of young people by bringing together different organisations, such as chambers of commerce, the public sector and trade bodies, to implement new apprenticeship-based initiatives.

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

Help for people to find the home that is right for them

HELPING people find a home that is right for them and their family is a major priority for Wandsworth Council.

Across the borough the council is investing £150 million in building 1,000 new homes.

The new homes will help people who live or work in the borough buy or rent a home in a way that is affordable. The majority of the homes will be for people on average or below average incomes.

Wandsworth has the ambition to build far more homes in the coming years, which will help even more local people continue to afford to live here.

A special Affordable Housing Open Day has been organised for October 11th in the Civic Centre in Wandsworth Town Centre to help explain that choices that are available to local people (see ad on page 9).

The Open Day is completely free and will help first time buyers find their way around the different Home Ownership schemes such as Shared Ownership, Right to Buy, Right to Part Buy and the House Purchase Grant.

Housing providers will also be available to offer information and advice, with legal and financial advice also being provided by property experts.

Wandsworth's commitment to providing innovative solutions on affordable housing was the reason why Council Leader Cllr Ravi Govindia CBE received special recognition recently as an 'Inspirational Leader' in the 2018 Housing Heroes Awards which were jointly organised by the Chartered Institute of Housing and Inside Housing magazine.

There are lots of ways that you, your family or your friends can benefit from Wandsworth Council's approach to building more homes for local people.

House Purchase Grant

This scheme gives eligible council tenants a grant to use towards buying a home of their own on the open market within the UK or anywhere else in the world or to use towards purchasing a share of a shared ownership property (part rent / part buy) within the UK. It can also be used to adapt a family member's home within the UK to create a self contained extension to enable tenants to move in.

The amount of grant a tenant could qualify for will depend on:

- the number of bedrooms within current home
- total length of tenancy
- the outcome of a means tested financial appraisal, as the grant is considered as gap funding and tenants must be in need of the grant towards the purchase as well as be able to demonstrate that they can afford any mortgage repayments.

Right to Part Buy

Right to Part Buy enables eligible council tenants who qualify for the Right to Buy (but are unable to afford to purchase their council home outright) to buy a share of their property with the added benefit of receiving an apportioned discount equal to the share purchased and pay a low rent on the remaining share.

To be eligible for the scheme you must:

- be a secure tenant
- have at least three years tenancy
- not have received Housing Benefit 12 months prior to the application
- must pass an affordability test

Tenants will be able to purchase a minimum initial share of either 25% or 50% and in the future can buy additional shares and possibly own their home outright.

Our very first completion under Right to Part Buy happened for a Balham-based couple in June this year.

For further information about any of the Home Ownership schemes please contact the Home Ownership Team via the following ways:

www.wandsworth.gov.uk/homeownership or

Email: housesales@wandsworth.gov.uk or

Telephone: 020 8871 6161

Right to Buy

Right to Buy helps council tenants buy their home with a discount of up to £108,000 available.

The funds raised through Right to Buy are used to provide new affordable housing options for other local people.

The council has a helpful Right to Buy information booklet for tenants who are interested in owning their council home. To read an online copy and to find out more about the process visit www.wandsworth.gov.uk/homeownership. Tenants who would like more information should contact the home ownership team who will be able to guide them through the Right to Buy process.

Shared Ownership

Shared ownership allows people to get on the property ladder with a much smaller deposit. Part of the property is purchased, typically starting at a stake of 25%, with rent paid on the remaining part. Your stake in the property can increase over time.

For example, if you are purchasing a one-bedroom flat, typically priced at £400,000, you would ordinarily need to pay a 10% deposit of £40,000.

With Shared Ownership you could initially purchase a 25% share of the property worth £100,000, paying a deposit of £10,000.

New Shared Ownership developments in the borough include the following:

Peabody – Battersea Reach, SW18

A new scheme consisting of 24 one-beds and 16 two-beds will be launching shortly. This latest phase of the popular development in the heart of Wandsworth boasts a location close to the Thames with excellent transport links into central London. For further information call 020 7021 4842, email enquiries@peabodysales.co.uk or visit www.peabodysales.co.uk

Fabrica – Carlton House, SW15

Properties will be available in the new year and marketing will occur imminently; this scheme will constitute 15 units with 12 x 1-beds & 3 x 2-beds in Putney, very close to important tube and rail links. For further information, you can contact the sales team on 020 3504 7358 or check the website www.fabrica.co.uk

Building Homes
for Wandsworth People

Claire moved into her new shared ownership home in October last year, just in time for her first Christmas with baby boy Jaiden. Claire is living in a 2-bedroom apartment in Balham.

“ I was previously living in my family home in Southfields, but with a baby due it seemed time to find a place of my own.

I was ready to have my own space and make my own family home. ‘I’ve lived in Wandsworth my whole life and wanted to stay in the area, but I couldn’t afford to buy a home outright.

I found out about shared ownership on the council’s website – so I registered with them for one of these properties.

CLAIRE'S STORY

Members of the Battersea Men's Shed group have launched a boat they made themselves onto the Thames.

The Men's Shed, run by the council's housing department community development team, gives older men – and women - the opportunity to socialise and work together on projects and is run out of a specially-converted workshop at Dimson Lodge.

HMS Battersea Men's Shed was built over three years and was officially launched at Putney by deputy mayor Jane Cooper, with music from Roehampton over 50s choir An A-Choired Taste – also run by the community development team.
