Support that's right for you

We can support you through different stages of employment. We will work with you at your own pace and according to your needs.

Before you start working, we can support you to:

- think about what job you might want to do
- understand the world of work
- get the right experience through voluntary work, internship, work experience
- understand what skills you have
- build your confidence
- understand if working will affect your benefits.

When you feel ready to apply for jobs, we can support you to:

- job search
- write cover letters and application forms
- help you on your journey to interviews
- learn and practice interview techniques
- speak to employers about your skills and needs; we can ask for adjustments or a work trial.

“Thank you for all your help. You were essential in building my confidence to get this job.”
Katie, who we support.

“Thank you for helping me with my CV, cover letter and my application forms. I would not have got this job without your help.”
Harry, who we support.

When you are in work, we can support you to:

- stay in work
- help you manage your disability at work
- return to work if you have been off sick or furloughed
- make sure you are happy in your job
- talk to your employer.

Covid update:

- We are still providing support.
- We can meet you in our Covid secure office.
- We are also offering a digital service.
- Feeling ready can take time. Even if you don't feel ready or safe to go out to work, it is still useful to access employment support.
